Government Regulation and the Shoe Business

Why Government Regulation Every line of business is asked to co-operate with the Government to help win the war. The War Industries Board, to this end, has asked the shoe trade to curtail the number of styles in order that capital, labor, materials and transportation may be released. The Government has asked us to in turn seek the public's co-operation in making these regulations effective.

Damaging False Rumors Unfortunately false rumors, detrimental to the wearers of shoes, have appeared in the newspapers, and we feel it our duty to state the facts as they are.

The Question of Profits

Shoe manufacturers have been asked by the Government to limit the class of materials and amount of labor expended in the making of shoes in order that shoes of good value and assuring a fair profit to maker and retailer may continue to be sold. Of necessity, however, this will elminate, after present stocks are sold, all shoes of the very highest grades, which necessarily must retail at prices higher than will be charged for shoes restricted in style but which will not be on sale until some time in the future.

Classification and Values

Footwear purchased by us from now on, but which will not be on sale until late winter or spring, will be classed A. B and C, according to its type and quality, to be retailed from $3 to $12. These shoes will not be of as good values as shoes now selling at these prices, owing to the greatly increased cost of manufacturing, but they will be the best values obtainable at these prices.

All Shoes Are "Patriotic"

We have been asked by patrons if it is not "unpatriotic" to wear certain types of shoes. We answer that all shoes are patriotic shoes, for the Government expressly desires us and all shoe retailers to sell all shoes on hand at prices now prevailing and which are not affected by Classifications A, B and C.

Buy These Shoes While You Can

After present stocks are exhausted, certain beautiful and daintily colored shoes, now extremely popular, will not be obtainable. These were made in exact conformity with Government restrictions. When they are gone you cannot obtain them, however, at any price. Included in these numbers are the beautiful gray kid, two-tone and medium brown boots with French heels and turned sole. If you prefer these shoes of distinctive character and at present moderate prices, you should take advantage of this opportunity.

All Shoes Affected

Price and style restriction will affect all shoes - men's, women's, misses' and children's alike. And prices will be higher, quality considered, after present stocks are ex-

Our Pledge to Uncle Sam

We have pledged ourselves to the Government to patriotically conform with the shoe restrictions, and have applied for a PLEDGE CARD, which we will show in our window upon its arrival from Washington.

All shoe stores - wherever shoes are sold-have been asked to co-operate and to seek your co-operation, as we are doing.

"Meal-an'-ale" will be the center of attention, and despite the fact that conditions growing out of the war combine to modify the festivals celebrated in the years before the war, the program will adhere strictly to the round of events which marked the observance in Scotland many years ago. James K. Pirie of Graniteville is to be the host.

On the last lap of their drive for war thrift stamp sales, city and rural letter earriers at the Barre postoffice are looking for an opportunity to make a big spurt on the home stretch, inasmuch as a considerable number of pledges made during the campaign last summer remain to be redeemed. Thus far the aggregate sales credited to the city pos men and the carriers of the rural deliv ery are slightly over $50,000. The carriers are at a loss to ascertain their relative standing in the friendly competition arranged early in the year, for the bulle tin service in the work room at the postoffice appears to have been discontinued The last returns were posted in October, maintain the rivalry which existed when the regular posting of returns kept every carrier informed. Payment of war chest dues was in order to-day, and the custodians of Barre's war fund were hoping throughout the afternoon that the number of subscribenementenement menemenementemenementemenementemenemene ers who called to settle their arrears would be sufficient to make easy the contribution of $21,000, Barre's quota, to the United War Work campaign. county campaign committee is banking on a 100 per cent subscription in Barre, and it will be easily possible if those who have pledged themselves to stand back of the war chest do their duty. After to-night one more day of active campaigning remains, and when the returns are received Monday night the country will know whether or not the people intend to stay with the boys until they have landed safely on the home shores, Subscribers are urged not to let their gratitude for the sacrifices made by boys not end until they are safely home. Barre boys at the front are looking to he home folks in this critical hour. To meet and fraternize once more with a comrade-in-arms whom he had the not seen in 54 years was the unusual experience of Nat Bond, janitor at the federal building. Early this morning Mr. Bond got a telephone message from a man who said he knew him as an infantryman in the Civil war. The Barre man was unable to associate the voice with anyone he remembered, and so the matter rested until Joseph A. Irish of Bridgeport, Conn., late of the Fighting Massachusetts 16th infantry walked into the lobby of the postoffice.
